East Kootenay Members of Pythian Sisters Meet at Fernie

(Courtesy Lethbridge Herald)

ERNIE, B. C. (HNS) — Over 100 Pythian Sisters from five East Kootenay centres gathered in Fernie last Saturday for the No. 1 district ninth convention of Pythian Sisters. Temples from Michel, Fernie, Cranbrook, Creston and Kimberley were represented.

Visiting sisters from Bonners Ferry, Idaho, Coleman, Alberta, Nakusp and Rossland were among the 109 sisters registered.

The Kimberley Temple won the Evinne Cartwright Shield in the Degree Staff Drill contest. The Signs contest was also won by Kimberley while Michel Temple won the Memory contest. The offer of Mrs. Pearl Palmer of Rossland to donate a shield as second prize in the staff drills was accepted. The new shield will be open for competition at the next district convention which will be held in Kimberley.

New Ceremony

A feature of the evening program was the re-organization service as exemplified by the Kimberley Past Chiefs. The impressive ceremony was conducted by candlelight. It was the first occasion that this service has been part of the convention program.

The officers presiding at the convention were district deputy grand chief, Mrs. Irene Phillips of Fernie; former past district deputy grand chief, Mrs. Winnifred Weitzel of Cranbrook, who was substituting for past district deputy grand chief, Agnes Phillips of Michel, who was unable to be present; district senior Doris Horne, of Cranbrook; district junior, Gwen Preston of Kimberley; district treasurer, Doris Huscroft of Creston; district secretary, Gwen Lilley of Fernie; district treasurer, Ada Howarth of Fernie; district protector, Annie Gaskell of Michel; district outer guard, Margaret A. Fisher of Kimberley; pianist, Mrs. Grace Stuart of Fernie, and district press correspondent, Mrs. Anne Tustian of Michel. Most excellent chief, Mrs. Dolly McLennan of the host Trinity Temple, Fernie, welcomed the delegates and visiting dignitaries.

Mrs. Mary Kosma and Mrs. A. Penney were the Coleman members of the Pythian Sisters who attended this meeting.

Local Boy To Spend Summer In Arctic

Bill Kerr, of Coleman, was fortunate in being accepted as an assistant geologist on a party from the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys, Ottawa, which will spend the next five months in the northern-most Canadian Arctic. He will be on Operation Franklin, whose object is to study and map the stratigraphy and the structure of Queen Elizabeth Islands. Included in the party are 11 geologists, 10 assistant geologists, 1 radio operator, 3 pilots and 2 dogs. They will travel at their summer work in two of the world's largest helicopters, namely Sikorsky S-5's.

The cache phase of the operation precedes the main expedition phase and Bill will be a member of this advance party as well, the object of this phase is to establish fuel and supply caches in the islands in support of the survey party. They will travel by ski-equipped aircraft, three Eskimos with dog teams will accompany the party.

Bill, with one other student, from the Geological Faculty, left Edmonton by plane April 27, flying to Fort Churchill by way of Winnipeg. At Fort Churchill they join the party of Dr. Y. A. Fortier, head of the Arctic Survey Work.

Enough information is now on hand to show that there is an Arctic Island area larger than Alberta, which is worth exploring for petroleum. Iron deposits appear too, and it is hoped other areas suitable for prospecting will be found as they geological survey continues.

The party expects to arrive back at Fort Churchill about September 20th.

One of the Canadian Cancer Society's chief goals is to improve services to needy cancer patients.

Board of Trade Complete Plans for Rodeo

At the regular supper meeting of the Coleman Board of Trade held in the Grand Union banquet room on Thursday evening, April 28, considerable plans were made for the forthcoming Rodeo to be held here on July 9th. Also of utmost importance was the plans laid for the Carnival and Soap Box Derby to be held on September 9th and 10th. Secretary J. R. Hill read correspondence pertaining to the proposed midway to be held in conjunction with the Rodeo. Mr. Hill stated that he was in possession of the contract sent to the Board by Cavalcade Shows Incorporated outlining the various attractions that was guaranteed to be set up here. This was comprised of 7 rides, and 15 concessions, all to be floodlighted at night with special light towers giving off a colored effect. Considerable discussion took place as to the reliability of this Show, with Mr. Hill reading a copy of telegram sent to the Nainaimo, B.C. Chamber of Commerce requesting information on Cavalcade Shows, but as yet no answer had been received. Some members expressed concern that a possible recurrence of the skin game experienced here with the last shows might happen again. But it was felt that as this Company had played other towns in Alberta, with no complaints known of, it would be safe to bring them in. The matter of signing the contract was left up to the executive's discretion.

Plans were presented by W. Holyk for the holding of a Carnival and Soap Box Derby to be held here on September 9th and 10th. To head the carnival committee as chairman O. Celli, and assisted by C. Rogers, W. Lonsbury and C. Freeman. In charge of the Soap Box Derby F. DeCocco with the matter of selecting assistants to help being left in his hands. The picnic shelter plans were reported to be all ready for construction and only frost in the ground was holding up the project. The Jubilee committee reported that it was their intention to go along with the Lion's Club in completing the children's playgrounds, and that East Coleman had expressed their willingness to come in with Coleman on this plan, but that it was up to the ratepayers of East Coleman to vote on this matter. Willow Drive had decided to work on their own. The matter of Monday closing was again discussed and it was decided to write the Retail Merchants Association requesting them to reconsider Monday closing as some members felt that tourist trade would suffer by the long week-ends with no business places being open. The Greyhound Bus Depot question was again discussed with the results that further representation would be made to the Greyhound Bus Co. Mr. Hill informed the members that the executive had appointed, W. B. Fraser to represent the Board on the Sports Association. President W. Holyk read a letter received from the Hon. Gordon Taylor in regards to this request for information on the Micro-wave system with regards to television here in the Crow's Nest Pass. Mr. Taylor stated that no positive results would be obtained in this area, even with a television station being established in Lethbridge, as reception would be very poor and of a freak nature. It was hoped that in the not to distant future a system would be installed to serve this area.

Discussion arose in regards to holding a mixed supper meeting in the fall with the matter left in the hands of the executive.

Mr. J. R. Hill then gave the members a brief outline according to the information given to him on the layoff of over 100 miners from the Coleman Collieries. Mr. Harry Boulton gave a compressible report on Forestry road conditions in this area and stated that they were not in condition to handle any firefighting equipment in case of outbreaks of fires. He stated that this was a project that the government should investigate and proceed with, so as to relieve the unemployment situation as it now stood in Coleman. He further urged the Board to make representation to the government now. Mr. E. Fabro a mine official stated that it was his opinion that the matter of getting this project started now would keep the younger men here, and that any community was dependent on retaining its young citizens for the future. He further stated that he could not foresee in the near future any improvements in the coal industry as it now stood.

The meeting was informed that the Miner's Rehabilitation Committee representative would be in Coleman on Tuesday, May 2, and it was decided to have a committee interview this representative with regards to the road question. President W. Holyk and Mr. H. Boulton were appointed to handle this matter.

CITIZENS ARE REQUESTED TO OBSERVE CLEAN-UP PERIOD

Coleman Town Council has set aside the period between May 1st and May 15th as Clean-Up Time in Coleman. Every resident of the community is asked to take an active part in this project.

As was the case last year, the Council are putting town trucks on this campaign and will haul away any of your garbage within reason. This is your chance to get rid of last winter's accumulation of rubbish at no expense to you. Town crews are prepared to accept anything within reason.

Show your appreciation for this campaign and have your rubbish ready in boxes or other containers so that the men can do a speedy and thorough clean-up.

New General Manager Coleman Collieries Here In July

Mr. David Young, general manager of the Hillcrest Mohawk Collieries at Bellevue will take over as general manager of the Coleman Collieries in July. Mr. Young is at the present time general manager of the Luscar Coal Mine.

Mr. Young left Hillcrest Mohawk mines in 1948 when the mine was closed down and assumed the position of general manager at the mines in Cadomin. He served in this position for three years when he left to take over as general manager of the Luscar mines. He has been here for four years.

Mr. and Mrs. Young will take up residence in Coleman, it is expected.

Coleman Fire Brigade To Hold Hose Laying Competition July 1

Fire Chief, A. Montebetti stated today that Coleman's Volunteer Fire Brigade will hold its annual Hose Laying competition here in Coleman on July 1st. As in previous years outside entries will compete, and it is expected that more teams will enter that entered last year. There has been considerable inquiries already. He stated further that a similar competition will be held in Kimberley the following day and that the Coleman team would compete. The Ladies Auxiliary to the Fire Brigade would man a refreshment booth, and it was hoped that the citizens would turn out as in previous years to cheer Coleman's team on to Victory.

Coleman Collieries Lays Off 101 Men

Coleman Collieries Ltd. due to the decrease in orders laid off 101 men effective May 1st, this is the second layoff by this firm in the last year. Due to a steady decrease in coal orders the Collieries have been forced to reduce staff, and place the mine on a single shift. According to Company officials they don't foresee any improvement in the near future for the coal industry, unless government assistance is forthcoming. It has been reported that a slight improvement in work maybe expected for the men still working, some have been optimistic to the extent that a four or five-day week may be worked. Mr. N. Ash, secretary of the local union U.M.W.A. in his report to a mass meeting held on Saturday, April 30, stated, the layoff came as a surprise and that the Union executive had tried to have the Collieries consider retaining the men even if it meant only one or two days a week, this the Company had rejected as it was not economical due to holiday credits and other factors.

Mr. Ash further stated that in the near future other layoffs could be expected to effect men employed on the Coleman Trucking Co. and the Tent Mountain Strip mine, both of these operations come under the control of the Collieries. He also informed the meeting that Mr. Ferguson of the Miner's Rehabilitation Board, set up by the Provincial government would be in Coleman on Tuesday to consult with local officials, and further to this report, Mr. J. Loh of the National Employment Service had informed him that 70 to 75 miners could be placed in mines at Fernie, B.C. The meeting then requested that the Union executive request the Collieries to consider installing the stagger system with one half of the men working one week and the other half the next week. It was felt that this system could keep all of the men working. It was moved by the men present that wires be sent protesting the conditions in the coal industry to W. Kovach M.L.A., Premier Manning, Rev. E. O. Hansell, M.P. and to ministers of the coal board.

Police Issue Warnings re Dog Licences

Chief of Police Corson, informed the Journal this week that a checkup of owners of dogs would take place shortly to see that they obtained licenses for 1955. He further stated that the by-law read that anyone owning or harboring any dog must obtain a license for same. This means even though you keep your dog in your yard, house or other buildings you must obtain a license. Chief Corson stated that the license must be attached to the collar, or if dog would not keep a collar on that a dog harness should be used instead.

Coleman's donations to this fund were $544.06 a remarkable achievement considering conditions experienced here during 1954. The 1955 campaign will again be in October and it is hoped that Coleman will be right up there with the best of them.

World Happenings In Pictures

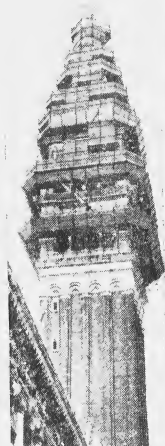

THE ANGUS L. MACDONALD BRIDGE which connects Halifax, 4,310-foot structure contains 8,227 tons of steel. There is enough wire to tax with Dartmouth, spanning Halifax Harbor, is the second largest in the two main, 13½-inch cables to reach from Halifax to Vancouver, suspension bridge in the British Commonwealth. Built by Dominion and each tower is equal in height to a 25-story building. The bridge Bridge Co., Montreal, who also constructed the only bigger span has a 27-foot roadway and five-foot sidewalks, cost approximately $10,750,000, and was to be formally opened April 2.

END OF LINE—Frank and Clair Tock, of Oil City, Pa., both escaped serious injury when this car crashed into the Trinity Methodist church just below a sign showing hands clasped in prayer.

HAZARD TO NAVIGATION—A "sap" at the helm has imperiled many a ship, but this is perhaps the first time that two saps have proved a hazard to a steamship's progress. The 49-year-old Teconora, making a 9,000-foot overland journey from Lake Champlain to the St. Lawrence, Vt., Muscon, is encountered by Farmer Denny Waller, who is making the rounds of his sugar bush with his sap-collecting rig. Maple sap running free means "spring thaw," and spring thaw means that the last of the Lake Champlain steamships may long up on a mud bank before she can complete the journey to her final berth on the ocean's grounds.

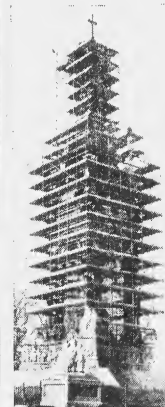

VENETIAN PAGODA — St. Mark's Campanile, in Venice, Italy, assumes the appearance of a pagoda with its temporary ornamentation of scaffolding. The well-known bell tower in San Marco Square is undergoing its regular cleaning.

NEW FLAG OVER SUEZ ZONE—Premier Gamal Nasser sees the Egyptian flag raised over Shalufa camp, the first British army base in the Suez canal zone to be turned over to Egypt.

FAITH, HOPE AND CHARITY (left to right), believed to be the oldest living triplets in the United States, whip up their 87th birthday cake in the kitchen of the Marlboro, Mass., Country club where they were invited to celebrate their birthday recently. Baking a cake is no novelty for Faith Macdonnell, Hope Daniels and Charity Murphy as they had their own cake baking business from which they retired 15 years ago.

NO PAGODA — Scaffolding gives the famed Albert Memorial, in London's Kensington Gardens, a pagoda-like appearance as workmen complete restoration of the ornate structure. It was heavily damaged by bombing in World War II.

Neglected colds may prove serious

Many forms of common cold are amenable to home treatment but there are others that should have medical treatment. Chills or fever, with shortness of breath are serious symptoms. If material showing signs of blood is coughed up, a doctor should be called.

Neglected colds may become serious so it is advisable to do something about them as soon as they start. One good idea is to stay indoors, whether the cold is major or minor, to prevent spreading the cold germs among other people.

MARATHON POOL PLAYER—Today it seems as if everyone is trying to set a record for one thing or another. Piano players have been pounding keys, pipe smokers have been puffing for hours on end, records have been set by people rocking in chairs and now there is a pool player who has completed 57 hours of steady sharp-shooting. Gerard Lefebvre, a Montreal night club waiter, racked up a fantastic total of 225 games in the marathon. Winning 200 with an average point total of 45 per game against anyone who would take him on.

BEAUTY'S TUNED BY EAR—Heard—That's right, it's a "heard," not just another hairdo. Created by New York City Hair Stylist Victor Vito, it's designed with an ear to the problem of the hard-of-hearing woman. As modeled by Carolyn Phillips, chignon conceals batteries for the hearing aid; curl just above earrings masks ear unit of the device.

GEORGE McAVOY, captain of the World Championship hockey team—the Penitence V's, has been signed to a professional contract by the Montreal Canadiens. McAvoy since signing has played against Boston Bruins in the playoffs.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

"A good cigar is a smoke"

By T. W. TOBIN

CLANCY McBRIDE stood on the corner of Fifth and Elbow, chewing on his cigar and mithering to himself. Clancy was hungry, as he rocked back and forth on his number twelve he looked his watch. "Late again," he growled to himself. "That girl has never been on time in her life. Here it is seven o'clock and she was supposed to meet me at six. I'm getting tired of it. This time it's gonna be different."

There were two things Clancy loved, Maggie O'Toole and a good cigar. Maggie was the most beautiful girl in the world. Her Irish blue eyes and coal black hair made Clancy's heart throb when he thought of her, which was most of the time. She had a wit about her too and when she answered Clancy she would tilt that little turned-up nose in the air and put him back in his corner with her answers. As to the cigars, Clancy smoked as many in a day as there was time.

"I'll teach her this time that I'm not a guy to be trifled with," said Clancy to himself. "This time I'm gonna be late, and let her wait for me."

Clancy threw his checked-up cigar away and reached in his pocket for another. There was only one left and that was a phony brand that one of the boys down at the plant had given him. Clancy decided not to smoke it. There was a cigar store across the corner and he decided to go over and buy some more.

As Clancy entered the cigar store, he made a striking figure. In his blue pin stripe suit and derby hat he cut quite a figure. And as if that wasn't enough, his shoulders, which would have done credit to a wrestler, barely cleared the doorway. Clancy wasn't a big man but when he went in a door, nobody went out the same door at the same time.

"I'll take a few cigars," said Clancy to the man behind the counter.

As Clancy said this and the other man walked in and said in a quiet voice, "This place is peachy for gambling."

"But listen, Bub, I got a date," said Clancy.

"You'll have a date all right, in the morning with the judge," said one of the plainclothesmen. Clancy thought fast. He had to meet Maggie very soon and he didn't want to go to jail. He could be? Then he thought of the cigar, the last one he had. He pulled it out of his pocket and handed it to the cop who had just spoken and who seemed to be in charge.

"Have a cigar, Doc," said Clancy. "As long as I'm going to jail I won't need it. I came in here to buy some more, but I guess you guys won't believe me."

"Thanks, Bub," said the policeman. "I'll just take that. And as long as you're such a square guy, I'll let you go. But stay out of these places, they won't do you any good."

The cop took the cigar, bit the end off it and touched a match to it while he blew clouds of blue smoke into the air. "Good cigar," he said.

But Clancy didn't hear him for he was already out the door and starting across the street, thinking of the two things he loved the most—Maggie O'Toole and another cigar.

Clancy was half way across the street when he heard the explosion. It never occurred to him that he was involved, but the noise made him turn his head and look back. Just as he looked back he saw the plainclothes cop come out of the cigar store and he was plenty mad. Moreover, he had a stump of a cigar in his mouth and his face was blackened as if from an explosion.

One look was enough for Clancy, he knew the effects of a loaded cigar when he saw one.

Flying dangers
during spring

During the spring, flies and other insects spend a lot of their time hunting ways of getting into houses where they can raise their families of thousands. Houseflies bring in disease germs from garbage and street filth; this, they deposit on exposed food, table linen and on the faces of baby and the rest of the family.

The stinging species can make life miserable for adults and children. To protect the home from pests that are dangerous as well as a nuisance, windows and doors should be screened before the insect hordes come to life again.

Shooting stars are meteors which burst into a fiery glow through friction in the earth's atmosphere.

Airlift supplies to Arctic

OTTAWA — RCAF spring re-supply of weather bases in the Arctic Islands jointly operated by Canadian and U.S. meteorological services will begin April 6, it was announced recently by Air Force headquarters.

Nearly 750,000 pounds of equipment, food supplies and fuels will be airlifted into four U.S. Canadian sites by C119 "Packets" of 435 Edmonton, and 436 Leanne transport squadrons. The USAF operating from Thule air base on Greenland will also take part in lifting supplies into the two most northern points, at Alert and Eureka on Ellesmere Island.

The RCAF transports under command of FL L. E. M. McLean, 29, of Dartmouth, N.S., and Edmonton, will use Resolute Bay on Cornwallis Island as their main base. The bulk of the supplies were delivered by Canadian department of Transport ships to the two main air bases last summer.

Although the USAF will airlift to only two bases the RCAF will visit all four and also conduct "clean-up" flights to deliver any last minute items and to ensure every item reached its proper destination. Almost 24 hours of daylight will enable around the clock operations for the two week period necessary to complete the job.

Ice strips carved out on sea ice are used for runways and speed is essential before the weather turns warm and the runways start to melt. The five gun weather bases, including Resolute Bay, receive the majority of their supplies during the spring and fall re-supply airlifts. Periodic airdrops are also made throughout the winter when emergency equipment is needed and at Christmas time. Other than these flights, the bases are completely isolated except for the occasional summer supply ship which may or may not arrive depending on sea ice conditions.

The C119 aircraft with their easy loading and unloading facilities for heavy machinery and barrels are ideally suited for this rugged work.

This little pig
had final fling

WINNIPEG — This little pig went to market . . .

But this little pig decided to have one last fling. With this in mind, Percy the Puffer abandoned his market-bound brothers and sisters and escaped from his owner's truck to scamper about downtown Winnipeg streets for 20 hilarious minutes.

Streetscars changed horns blared and hundreds of pedestrians laughed as Percy led a weaving unheeded parade which included policemen and volunteers.

Finally he was caught and his captors told the owner about Percy.

Love life of whooping crane
baffles wildlife service

OTTAWA — The Canadian wildlife service is baffled over the love life of the rare whooping crane.

Their evasiveness and small numbers—there are only 21 known in existence—make it hard for wildlife experts to track them down to their summer nesting grounds.

Wildlife people know the big cranes spend the winter in Texas and the summer somewhere in Canada's Northwest Territories. That's about all.

They don't know why the bird is becoming so rare, why it isn't reproducing—because they can't get near its nesting grounds.

Numerous century ago

About 100 or 150 years ago, the whooping crane was a common sight in Canada and the United States. Hunters probably accounted for most of the decline in the population, but since the early 1900s the whoopers have been protected by the migratory bird regulations. Hunters may have shot a few by mistake since then, but officials feel there should be more than 21 survivors.

The population was cut to 21 last winter. Three of the big red-crowned cranes failed to return to the wintering grounds at Aransas national wildlife refuge in Texas. No one knows what happened to the missing birds, although hunters are suspected.

The Aransas refuge, 47,000-acre sanctuary, is the only known home of the birds. There they are watched from platforms atop 20-foot poles. But only one of the summer mating grounds is known.

About a year ago whoopers were located nesting near Wood Buffalo park in the Northwest Territories. The sets will be investigated further this spring.

Other traces have been found in the Territories. However, one wildlife spokesman said the most likely spots are bug-infested swamp lands "just about impossible to investigate."

"Sometimes we hear of a place where they have been seen," he added. "But when our crews get there to investigate the birds have gone."

Spring expedition

He said regular department teams in the Territories have been sent.

Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal

That The Salvation Army, which celebrates 40 years of service in July of this year (1855) is the outgrowth of a small mission set up in 1865 in London's churchless East End?

That William Booth, Salvation Army founder, was originally a Methodist Minister, but gave up his church after his evangelical methods of reaching the poor had been denounced as unorthodox?

That one of the first religious meeting places of The Salvation Army in London was on the site of a notorious public house called The Eagle, which William Booth bought in order to stop what was generally considered to be a "sink of iniquity." This place was sufficiently notorious to inspire a comic song, famous today, which became popular in the music halls, the jaunty chorus of which was:

Up and down the City road,
In and out the Eagle,
That's the way the money goes,
Pop goes the weasel.

(Not many people know that "pop" was a colloquialism for "paw", and "weasel" a slang word for watch.)

That originally The Salvation Army lasses, who made doughnuts famous in World War I, planned to serve fudge, but switched to doughnuts when the demand for food increased? The original doughnuts were really "twists." When modern baking facilities and doughnut cutters were obtained, the doughnut with the hole resulted.

That Salvation Army brass bands were originally used to help drown out the jeers and catcalls from street rowdies? General William Booth liked music and caused the bands to be universally adopted.

That one of the most effective Lost and Found bureaus in the world is operated and has been operated for some years by The Salvation Army? Through its world-wide organization, The Salvation Army will undertake to look for a lost person anywhere in the world. Long-lost heirs and long-lost husbands have been successfully tracked down.

That The Salvation Army in Canada operates a Field Unit in isolated areas which is a mobile church, emergency van, ambulance, dispensary, canteen, all in one? Two girl officers "man" the vehicle which may one week be providing film entertainment for loggers in a remote camp, and the next dispensing nursing care at the scene of a disaster.

That The Salvation Army is operating "Harbour Light" stations in the Skid Row areas of U.S.A. and Canada. In Vancouver and Toronto, the men who are most "down" need not be out. Every facility for rehabilitation is provided "under one roof" at these centres.

The Red Shield Appeal for 1955 will be launched throughout the Pass during the month of May. Citizens of The Pass are urged to give generously when the canvasser calls.

Trout Fishing Season To Open May 1

This years fishing regulations have been announced by the Department of Lands and Forests.

Trout, grayling, and Rocky Mountain whitefish can be caught between May 1 and Sept. 30 in the North Saskatchewan and Red Deer River and tributaries. Season on the Athabasca River and tributaries is June 1 - Oct. 15, except for the McLeod River watershed which is open for fishing throughout the year.

A July 1 - September 30 season is in effect in the Spray Lake drainage while in other waters angling is allowed the entire year.

Lake trout season has been set from May 15th - September 15th, while the season is open throughout the year on pike, perch, pickerel, and goldeye. These latter fish can be caught in waters containing trout, grayling, Rocky Mountain whitefish, or lake trout only during the seasons applying to these species.

Catch limits are 15 trout, grayling, and Rocky Mountain whitefish per day, although the trout catch is limited to 20 pounds, with the exception of the Spray Lakes drainage where both daily and possession limit is 10 fish. Other daily limits are 10 lake trout, 15 pike and pickerel, and 25 perch and goldeye.

Of Many Things

(By Ambrose Hills)
USE OF YOURSELF

The weather was bad this morning so I came to work by street car. I was squeezed at the way men and women slumped in their seats, and twisted themselves into all sorts of ungraceful positions. It reminded me of a rhyme we used to hear at school

"A cross-legged woman like a crossed-legged cat,
It just sits natural, and that is that."

It always amazes me that this country is so ready to vote millions and millions of dollars for National Health and Welfare, while so few people are willing to do the slightest thing to improve their own personal health. As I have said so often, governments cannot breathe for you, eat for you, and now I add this: governments cannot walk, stand or sit for you.

Thousands of people are ruining their health by confusing relaxation with collapsing.

They slump in their chairs, they cross their legs, they hunch themselves up in every possible way. No wonder this is the generation of the slipped disc, the flat feet, and the curved spine. Surely we have enough gumption to make the proper use of our own bodies!

If you are not making proper use of your body, I would strongly recommend that you get a copy of Louise Morgan's book "Inside Yourself". It contains a foreword by Aldous Huxley. It is a simple explanation of the Alexander technique for standing, sitting and walking, and breathing. As I recall it costs only a couple of dollars, and in my opinion it will do you a lot more good than the hundreds of dollars you pay to the government every year for national health. Only one thing wrong with it — it will require a little bit of concentration and work by you. But after all, you do your own breathing anyway, don't you?

Acid-Producing Bacteria Can Be Starved

"Hundreds of thousands of living things floating around in my mouth? What do you mean?"

That is a common reaction when people are told of the tiny organisms of the mouth, some of which produce acids leading to the destruction of the teeth.

Most people know a little about bacteria, but usually think of them as germs that are associated with tuberculosis, pneumonia, diphtheria and similar diseases.

There are many thousands of bacteria of different kinds in the normal mouth and elsewhere in the body, performing a valuable duty for the most part. But the kind we are mostly concerned with in these articles is one with the formidable name of Lactobacillus Acidophilus. Taken apart and interpreted the name suggests a rod-shaped one that produces a certain kind of acid.

If we follow the advice given by our department of health, we will not feed them the things they like. These harmful organisms will then become discouraged and die off, until only a very few are left in the mouth.

But if we feed them, many times a day, with highly-refined starches and sugars, such as white flour products, pastries, candies, sweet drinks and confections of all kinds they will respond by working at top speed. Deposits of this sort of sweet, pasty substance will gather in the deep crevices and hidden spots around the teeth, and acids will form which will eat into the enamel.

These few simple suggestions, if closely followed, will help us to avoid much of the distress and discomfort that accompany dental decay:

Eat only at meal times; avoid snacks and confections between meals; brush off the deposits of food immediately after eating and the population of these acid-forming bacteria will quickly dwindle near to the vanishing point, through sheer starvation.

Game Branch Counts Elk In Crows Nest Forest Reserve

Aeroplanes and snowshoes are being used to count the elk in the Crows Nest and Clearwater Forest Reserves of south-western Alberta.

For about two weeks during March and April, the Game Branch of the Alberta government is concentrating its activities in the two reserves to gain an accurate elk population figure. The main program has been concentrated in the Crows Nest Forest Reserve, which extends along the east slope of the Rockies from Waterton National Park to the Highwood range. Elk from the south part of this area in recent years have wandered into settled areas, damaging crops and haystacks.

Elk Overpopulation Feeding Grounds

A preliminary survey indicated that the problem has been caused by an overpopulation of elk on marginal feeding grounds. Whenever a blizzard or heavy snowfall made foraging difficult in their natural habitat, the elk moved onto the prairie, causing some damage.

The Crows Nest Forest Reserve was selected as a fine site for the introduction of a direct herd management scheme in Alberta. Herd management has been tried successfully in many American states where similar problems of overpopulation are experienced.

Before a herd management scheme can be introduced there must be a population count of elk in the area. This is correlated with such data as the average calf crop per year and the prevalence of predators, disease and parasites, while a ground study of the area reveals how many elk a reserve could support.

Limited Winter Feed

When an area is overpopulated with elk — such as in the southern part of the Crows Nest Forest Reserve — the amount of winter feed is naturally limited. Therefore, many animals cannot obtain enough nourishment and as a result often succumb to adverse winter conditions. Many of the weakened females which do survive the winter do not calve.

With a direct herd management scheme, the reserve will have a far smaller elk population than at present. But this will eventually mean better grazing conditions, resulting in fewer winter kills and a large calf crop in the late spring.

This would serve a two-fold purpose. There would not likely be any further difficulty with elk drifting into settled areas, while a regular hunting season could be permitted.

1954 Season Was First Step

The 1954 open season on male and female elk was the first step in the direct management scheme. A total of about 700 male and female elk was taken in the district, thus reducing the overpopulation problem.

Elk uteri were collected at the checking stations during the open season and there are being examined to determine the reproductive rate and the relative incidence of pregnancy in the different age classes of cow elk.

The 1955 census is being divided into two sections — the aerial count and a ground survey.

Under the direction of George Mitchell, game biologist for the Department of Lands and Forests, daily flights were made into the area, and an adequate population figure obtained.

Flight Area Covered In "Transacts"

The total area covered by the aerial flights is about 75 miles long and 25 miles wide. Beginning near the Waterton National Park gates, the southern part of the area was surveyed in transacts. Here the pilot flew east to west and back in lines one mile apart at an approximate height of 300 feet. The biologist and Owen Bradwell, assistant forestry superintendent from Blairmore, counted the number of elk within 100 yards of the plane on either side. From this total, the number of elk within the area covered can be calculated accurately.

This method of counting could only be undertaken on the flat prairie portion adjacent to the reserve. On the final northern section, which is broken by a series of north-south ridges, flight at a constant altitude is impossible so this area is given an absolute count. In this count, the observers follow the ridges and water-courses in the district, excluding mountainous peaks and heavy forests, where few elk would be observed.

The elk this year were usually in herds of about 20, while the largest herd contained about 65 animals. When a large herd such as this is encountered, the plane circles until an accurate count is made.

Upon the completion of the aerial work, the crew will proceed to the areas where the greatest concentrations of elk have been observed. Here they will examine any animals found dead from weather, starvation or predators.

Using 20-power binoculars and travelling by snowshoes, if necessary, the men will attempt to establish the sex ratio of the larger herds. One difficulty is that during the spring it is difficult at a distance to distinguish between the cow and the larger male and female calves. Last year's ratio was one bull to about 7.6 cows.

Each time any elk are seen they are counted and the exact location of the herd recorded. Particular attention is paid to areas where forestry officers have reported seeing large numbers of the animals.

Clearwater Reserve Census

In the Clearwater Forest Reserve, the spring ground census is being conducted by game biologist Bob Webb. Assisted by forestry officers, a cursory examination of the range is being made, in an attempt to determine the general conditions for moose, elk and deer.

By working along the watersheds, the biologist will gain an accurate estimate of the number of animals in the reserve. Here a more difficult counting problem exists, as the moose are usually found singly, while deer are either in small herds or alone.

A search will be made for any winter deaths. The marrow of the leg bone is examined; if it is solid and whitish, the animal was in good shape, but if pinkish and watery, it indicates that starvation preceded death. Then a general autopsy is performed to discover if there were roundworms, flatworms or tapeworms in the internal organs.

During the summer, when travelling and surface conditions have improved, a second survey will be carried out in the Clearwater Forest Reserve, to investigate browsing conditions and the condition of natural food resources.

Planning This Year's Garden To Freezer Program

Ottawa, Ont. — Small backyard gardens offer more enjoyment to their owners than is commonly realized. With today's increasing facilities for the freezing preservation of food, many home garden enthusiasts have found new incentive to grow their own fruits and vegetables.

Only certain types of vegetables freeze successfully. In general the 'salad' vegetables such as lettuce, celery, tomatoes, etc., do not freeze well. If space is limited it is not advisable to fill the freezer with root vegetables which store well under proper conditions. An equally important consideration is that the correct variety of vegetables for freezing be planted.

The estimation of the quantity of vegetables required to provide a well stocked freezer may be simplified by knowing the approximate yields per 30 foot row of some of the recommended varieties. These as well as suggested amounts of each to freeze for a family of four are included as follows:

Spinach, 15 pints., yield 30 ft. row 20 pints.

Broccoli, freeze 15 pints. Approximate yield 30 ft. row 10 pints.

Peas, freeze 30 pints. Yield per 30 ft. row 4 to 8 pints.

Beans, freeze 20 pints. Yield per 30 ft. row 30 pints.

Corn (kernel), freeze 25 pints. Approximate yield per 30 ft. row 10 to 12 pints.

Corn (on the cob), freeze 150 ears. Yield per 30 ft. row 40 ears.

This plan may be adjusted to meet the needs of any size family or may be modified to include other vegetables and to meet individual preferences. By planning this year's garden to freezer program, it should be possible to provide the family with a wide range of attractive fresh frozen foods throughout the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley O. Christensen

NATAL — (HNS) — A quiet wedding took place at the Knox United Church at Fernie, B. C. recently, when Miss Irene Mary Grilus, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Grim of Natal, B. C., was united in marriage to Stanley Oliver Christensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Christensen of Lusscar, Alberta. The wedding vows were officiated by Dr. N. L. Hughes of Fernie. The bridesmaid was Miss Jean Kozler of Natal, while attending the groom as best man was Mr. Walter Barr, of Natal.

The bride wore a gown of white polka dotted net over taffeta topped with a short sleeved bolero and matching finger-tip veil and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

The bridesmaid was gowned in a mauve net semi-formal gown with yellow accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

About 50 guests attended a reception held at the home of the bride's parents. Toasts to the bride and groom were proposed by Mr. A. Sallis, Walter Barr, the best man, and Arthur Tondini, the latter of Spokane, Wash.

Out-of-town guests came from Nanton, Lethbridge, Coleman, Calgary and Fernie. The couple left Natal to spend their honeymoon at Edmonton, and also at Lusscar, home of the groom's parents.

On their return the newlyweds will make their home at Natal.

To Allow Open Season On Deer in Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta government has declared a two-month open season on deer throughout the province.

Limited hunting of moose also will be permitted under new regulations released by the provincial game branch.

No hunting of moose and deer was permitted last year.

The holder of a big game licence can take his choice of one male moose, deer or elk. While deer may be shot throughout the province, elk may be taken only west of No. 2 highway, and moose may be north of the Bow river.

The only exception to the elk regulations is that either a male or female elk may be taken as the one antlered animal allowed in the area west of No. 2 highway and south of the height of land between the Highwood river and the waters flowing into the Oldman river.

The bag limits on mountain sheep, mountain goat and bear remain the same as in 1954.

The deer, moose and elk season is open from Nov. 1 to Dec. 31. The sheep and goat season is open from Sept. 1 to Oct. 31, and bear will be open Sept. 1 to Dec. 31 and April 2 to May 31. Bear cubs and female bears with cubs are protected at all times.

WONT BAN GUNS ON FARM PROPERTY

EDMONTON (CP) — There will be no change in the Alberta Game Act this year requiring hunters to obtain land owner's consent before going onto property with a gun. Lands and Forests Minister Casey said Thursday.

A resolution passed by the legislature this year asked the government to amend the act to make it an offence for anyone to carry a firearm on privately-owned property without consent of the owner.

Mr. Casey said there will not be time to draw up legislation before the provincial house meets again in May to clean up business left over from the regular session. As a result, the regulation will remain the same as last year.

Cancer Society Contest Winners

BELLEVUE — A happy occasion took place in the Rex Theatre in Bellevue at 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon when five Crow's Nest Pass children were presented with cheques for having won places in the Crow's Nest Pass Branch of the Canadian Cancer Societies annual Scrap Book contest held in this area for the first time.

T. J. Williams Sr. of Blainmore, president of the C.N.P. branch, highly commended the students for the excellent effort each had put forth in making the winning scrapbooks. He also congratulated other entries in the contest. Mr. Williams then introduced M. D. McEachern, principal of the Bellevue high school who spoke briefly. Mr. McEachern outlined what work had so far been done by the Cancer Society and what work the Society still had to do in supporting cancer research.

Mrs. Phyllis Woytula, R.N., secretary of the C.N.P. branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, called out the names of the winning students who were presented with cheques by Mrs. M. Utley, member of the Educational Committee from Bellevue.

Winners are as follows: Grade seven to eight group: Rita Snell of Hillcrest school; grade five to six, Dell Marcolin of the Bellevue school; grade four to five, Richard Jillean of the Maple Leaf school, Dennis Kitaguchi of the Cameron School in West Coleman, and Lorraine Riva of the Maple Leaf School.

Questions and Answers on Unemployment Insurance or Employment

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you:

Q.—Last year, until June, I was on unemployment insurance. In June they still owe me 24 days' benefit, but I was told I was not entitled to benefit any more. Passing through another town, I was offered employment that may last two to three months. How much time must I work to receive benefit once more, after these two or three months? Will I be entitled to benefits and for how long? Will my 24 days be lost? (The last day I worked in 1954 was at the beginning of March.)

A.—If you make a claim for benefit immediately after working two to three months in insurable employment, you may qualify for benefit once more provided you have 180 days' contributions over the past two years. On your new claim you may receive one day's benefit for every five days you contributed during the previous five years, but from that total will be deducted one-third of the number of days you received benefit in the last three years. The 24 days which were not payable at the time your claim ended (June of last year) are not payable at any time. Since you cannot receive benefit for the 24 days, they will not be taken into account in the deduction explained above.

Q.—I work in a plant where there is a union and I belong to the union. If I am unemployed and there is a job available in a plant where there is not a union, would such a job be considered employment for me?

A.—If accepting a job in a plant where there is no union would jeopardize your rights in the union you belong to, then that job would not be considered suitable employment.

Q.—If I do laundry work at home for a hotel at a rate of $10 per week, may I have stamps put in my insurance book?

A.—It has generally been considered that persons working in their own homes for an employer are not insurable even though they may do the same type of work as those who work on the employer's premises. The reason for this is that there is usually no supervision or control over the persons who work at home. However, since there is not enough information to say definitely whether you should be insured and have stamps in your unemployment insurance book, further details of your conditions of employment given to the nearest local office will enable them to give you a definite ruling.

Q.—Is a farmer who owns a wood lot required to pay unemployment insurance for the workers he employs and pays more than the minimum wages?

A.—If your wood lot is operated in connection with your farm and not considered a separate business, the workers whom you employ are not insurable even though they are employed exclusively on the wood lot.

Q.—Last summer my husband and I operated a tourist business—snack bar, cabins and a small gas station. The snack bar, which I alone operated, opened in May, but the cabins and gas stations did not open until the beginning of the tourist season. However, if my husband were to sell gas on one day a week—Sunday—until it opened for full time business, and did nothing in connection with the snack bar, would it affect his benefits? He has been collecting unemployment insurance benefits since the end of last October.

A.—If the entire business, including the snack bar, cabins and gas station is operated jointly by you and your husband he would be considered self-employed and would not be eligible for benefit from the time you opened any part of the business to the tourist trade. Otherwise, any work done on Sunday must be declared and an adjustment of benefit will then be made.

Q.—Does the five year period associated with receiving unemployment insurance benefits refer to five years of work or merely the time worked in the five years preceding the date of application for benefit? If the latter is the case and only three years have been worked out of the last five, would I be eligible for supplementary benefits after having worked? In my case, I worked six years within the past 10, but only three within the past five.

A.—To qualify for supplementary benefits you must have worked in insurable employment for at least 90 days since the previous March 31 or have had a previous claim which expired since March 31. The period during which you can receive supplementary benefit is between January 1 and April 15 of any year.

Q.—I am a female factory worker. Twice a year lay-offs cause me to lose five weeks of work. At night I work regularly in a restaurant and I earn $1.80 for three hours work. Can I keep on working for this restaurant during lay-offs without it affecting my benefits?

A.—Yes. Since you earn less than $2 a night at the restaurant and are still available for employment during the day, your job at the restaurant is considered subsidiary employment.

Q.—What should an employee who loses his unemployment insurance book do if he wishes to receive benefits?

A.—He should go immediately to the local office, register for work and file a claim for benefit. The office will then give him a form which should be completed by his employers showing the number of contributions they have made for him during the current year. Although it is the employees responsibility to get such statements from his former employers, the local office will assist him if there is any difficulty.

So You Think You Are Smart

Answers to last week's questions:—

No. 1. How did "cartridge" originate?

Cartridge is an Anglicized form of French cartouche. The earliest use of cartridge recorded by the Oxford dictionary is dated 1579. Originally a cartridge was simply a round of powder wrapped in paper for use in a flintlock musket.

No. 2. How did the Jack rabbit get its name?

The Jack rabbit received its common name from the fact that its long, large ears were thought to resemble those of a jackass. In early references, to this animal in the West it is called variously the jackass rabbit, the mule rabbit and the Texas hare. Since the jackass is generally called a Jack in process of time jackass rabbit was shortened to Jack rabbit.

No. 3. Why are certain soldiers called grenadiers?

A grenadier was originally a soldier who carried and threw hand grenades. Hand grenades, small shells filled with powder and ignited by means of a fuse were first used in warfare during the 15th century. Sometimes these early bombs instead of being thrown by hand, were projected from the end of a musket. The earliest grenades weighed from two to six pounds. The grenadiers at first were simply four or five tall, picked men in each military company whose duty it was to throw grenades. Later each regiment had a company of grenadiers. When the use of grenades was discontinued in the eighteenth century grenadiers were retained as the name of a company in each regiment composed of the tallest and finest men. In the British Army the name survived only in the Grenadier Guards, the first regiment of foot guards, who were long noted for their height, fine physique and remarkable discipline.

No. 4. How did "bungalow" originate?

This word is an English corruption of Hindustani bangle (often pronounced ban-a-la by the natives), literally meaning "of or belonging to Bengal." The bungalow was originally the type of house most frequently occupied by Europeans in the interior of Malaysia and the name suggests that these first bungalows resembled houses common in Bengal. In India a bungalow is a one story lightly built cottage.

Next weeks brain teasers:—

1. How did "boycott" originate?
2. What are the requirements for burial in Westminster Abbey?
3. What is Scotland Yard?
4. Which is lighter, a steel or a wooden ship?

GARDEN NOTES—

No matter what the location there are flowers that grow

No matter what sort of a location there are some flowers which will grow in any garden. For rough spots or slopes one can make a rock garden and grow the special little plants that are listed in any seed catalogue. As a rule these are tiny things, which like shallow and dryish soils. Many of these rock garden plants originally came from mountain slopes.

For dark shady corners there are things like begonias, lily of the valley and such that will thrive there and nowhere else. At the other end of the scale are portulaca, poppies, alyssum and so on that delight in the hottest sunshine, will stand drought and are not particular at all whether the soil is rich. There are certain things that must be in a dry location and others that don't mind getting their feet wet. There are some that are exceptionally hardy and bloom after the frost. And there is, of course, a wide range

How to avoid 2,4-D damage

Damage to sensitive crops through the application of systemic herbicides can involve the sprayer in legal action.

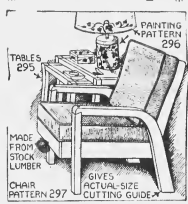

This warning is issued by the Manitoba Weeds Commission and a pamphlet on how to avoid 2,4-D damage has been prepared for distribution.

Plants sensitive to 2,4-D and allied chemicals include sunflowers, sugar beets, rapeseed, tomatoes, beans, cauliflower, cabbage, Manitoba Maple and many other ornamental trees and shrubs.

As damage is usually the result of thoughtlessness and carelessness, the pamphlet sets forth the precautions that should be taken to avoid danger.

The publication is available from local Agricultural Representatives.

Home Workshop

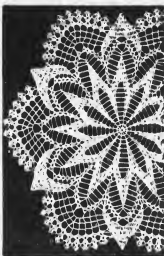

The arms and back legs of this chair are cut in one piece from a board 11 1/2 inches wide. The front legs are from the same piece. Your neighborhood woodworkers will say these pieces while you wait. The assembling is a simple job of gluing and driving screws. The result is a sturdy chair that will give years of service. The back and seat cushions rest on upholstery webbing and the pattern gives large sketches showing exactly how the webbing is stretched and tacked, as well as how to make the cushions with coiled seams. Foam rubber covered with fabric to match other furniture may be used. See sketch for pattern numbers and enclose $2.00 for each pattern ordered.

The unusual features of these figures are the natural coloring and life-like action poses. No special skill is needed for painting. The areas for the different colors are traced and then filled in as indicated on the pattern. The graduation of tone gives a most realistic effect. Use ordinary oil colors or poster colors. The latter are much cheaper but the work must be waterproofed with a coat of shellac. Mixing formulas and painting routine are given on the pattern which is 35c. Also this pattern is included in the packet of patterns for making lawn and garden figures. The price of the packet is $1.50 postpaid. Address order to: Department P.P.L., Home Workshop Pattern Service, 4433 West Fifth Avenue, Vancouver, B.C.

Endorse plans to extend carp control

PRINCE ALBERT. Sportsmen are endorsing fisheries branch plans to extend carp control measures.

Branch meetings of the Saskatchewan Fish and Game League, held in recent weeks, at which fisheries branch officials were present, saw members voice full support of any move by the branch to restrict the spread of carp in provincial waters.

The branch plans to extend the area in Saskatchewan in which minnows and other small fish, not to be used as bait in angling. This would lessen the possibility of carp being spread from one water area to another.

Initial carp control measures were taken for the first time last year by the fisheries branch, when it set up a 25,000 square mile restricted area in southeastern Saskatchewan. In this area, the use of all minnows and other small fish as angling bait was prohibited.

To date, in Saskatchewan, carp have been found in the Assiniboine river, and in Round and Crooked lakes in the Qu'Appelle waterway.

Elm Creek hog producers win competition

First prize in the 1954 Get-of-Sire Bacon Competition has been won by a group of hog producers headed by J. A. Halliday, Elm Creek district, Manitoba.

Mr. Halliday and nine other farmers entered a total of 122 hogs marketed between July 1, 1954, and January 31, 1955. The hogs were sired by Stoney Oak Mac 3H, a boar bred by C. J. Edwards of Stonewall and purchased by Mr. Halliday in the fall of 1953.

Second prize went to the Silberfeld Club at Gretna, Manitoba, which marketed 64 hogs sired by Nordlight Hamel 2H. This boar was bred by Paul Bergstresser, Sewell.

The Get-of-Sire Bacon Competition, which was first held in 1949, was conducted by the Canada and Manitoba departments of Agriculture. Contest groups are comprised of five or more producers and a Boar Club caretaker or boar owner who market at least 50 hogs sired by one boar.

Of the 323 hogs marketed by 85 producers in the prize-winning groups, 522 percent graded A.

The 1954 provincial Grade A average (news and slugs excluded) was 25.2 percent.

Of the 1610 hogs marketed by all producers in the 22 groups entered in the competition, 713 graded A and 687 graded B.

The competition indicates, it was pointed out, what a producer can do by paying more attention to the breeding, feeding and marketing of his hogs. It is also a means of discovering blood lines that are most effective in the production of high quality litters.

Best foot straight forward

The way we walk has a lot to do with our becoming tired and fatigued. The person who walks with his feet pointed "ten minutes to two" will tire much more quickly and actually take more steps than the walker who steps out with feet pointed straight ahead. The latter method not only gives better balance but also puts less strain on the bones and muscles of the foot.

Wild oats get attention at provincial weed meets

The wild oat monopolized a large part of the discussions at each of the four one-day weed meetings held throughout Manitoba in March.

The meetings, held at Winnipeg, Brandon, Dauphin and Portage la Prairie, attracted nearly 800 farmers, grain and chemical authorities. Speakers at the meetings included experts from the University of Manitoba, the Brandon Experimental Farm, the Manitoba Weeds Commission and from grain and chemical companies.

Delayed seeding, while sometimes disappointing, was considered the most effective weapon in combating the wild oat.

Other points brought up at the meetings included the following:

—Farmers were urged to submit through their agricultural representative any new weed specimens which appear on their farms.

—Experimental work carried out at the University of Manitoba revealed that wild mustard reduced yield on two wheat plots from 42 bushels per acre to 18 and 16 respectively.

The pronghorn antelope can sprint a short distance at a mile a minute clip and can do 40 miles an hour for about two miles.

Butterscotch-Pecan Cookies

Grease cookie sheets. Preheat oven to 350° (moderate). Mix and sift twice 2 1/2 c. once-sifted pastry flour for 2 1/2 c. once-sifted all-purpose flour, 2 tsp. Magic Baking Powder and 1 tsp. salt. Cream 3/4 c. butter or margarine and gradually blend in 1 1/2 c. lightly-packed brown sugar; add 2 well-beaten eggs part at a time, beating well after each addition; mix in 3/4 tsp. vanilla and 3/4 c. chopped pecans. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture part at a time, combining thoroughly after each addition. Drop dough by spoonfuls, well apart, on prepared cookie sheets; flatten with the floured tines of a fork. Bake in pre-heated oven 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from pan immediately. Yield—6 dozen cookies.
